

I am opposed to this proposal. In addition to addind delays to the already woefully slow adaptation process it would force me to throw away the HDTV equipment I am already using and infringe upon my right of fair use to time shift television broadcasts. As with all other "protection" implementations this would likely be compromised briefly after its inception anyway.